FOLLOW THE GOLDEN FLOW OF WATTLE

The name Cootamundra was likely derived from the Wiradjuri word gudhamang for "turtle", as the town is around a low-lying marshland, which is ideal turtle habitat.

Cootamundra was incorporated as a township on 9 August 1861, and the first white settlers bought their lots in early 1862.

Like many other towns in the Riverina, it was originally populated by those attracted by the gold rush of the 1860s (with mining taking place at the nearby Muttama Reef mine from 1862) but became a quiet yet prosperous agricultural community after the local deposits were exhausted. There are many large and impressive buildings in the town centre which hail back to these prosperous times.
